"Sensitive phrases" is a collection of essays by Han Han, a phenomenal blogger, writer, magazine editor, rally driver, and one of Time Magazine's 2010 top 100 "most influential people in the world." In China, publications are under the subjective scrutiny of the government. Many subjects are "sensitive" and easily face the chopping block. With over half a billion followers on his blog, Han Han does a dare in this book writing about these dual-language learners feel connected with the wondrous world around them. Reading the series will help bilingual children reach higher levels of creativity, curiosity, cognition, social awareness and emotional well-being, all conducive in preparation for subsequent language immersion programs. Follow Sophia and Alex through their first five books as they navigate the classroom and integrate their learnings back into the home. Continue the journey in the next five books, due to release in the spring of 2020. You will relish the diversity of characters and fall in love with Sophia and Alex as they experience daily life events as seen through the eyes of a child. The beautifully illustrated pages tell the story, and the stories will undoubtedly connect you with your child or grandchild through the sharing of a common language and culture. We invite parents and children to celebrate the diversity of life, and support the effort to publish more bilingual works for our young readers.
