This book investigates the impact of Pentecostalism on the participation of women in business in Harare, Zimbabwe. Chapters in this volume trace the history of women's participation in business and highlight how Pentecostalism serves as a major motivating factor. The central argument is that there is a way in which selected women's businesses are "powered by the Spirit." Contributors to the volume utilize case studies of selected Pentecostal churches and ministries to highlight how the religious ideologies of these churches galvanize them to engage in business. They also draw patterns of similarity and difference across the different Pentecostal churches. The volume demonstrates how Pentecostalism both facilitates and militates against women's participation in business concerning a specific setting in Zimbabwe.

Relieve this awesome, touching and intriguing true-life story of Samson the Legend, who was deceived by a lady called Delilah by exposing his secret to the Philistines, which led to his downfall and also the final defeat of the Philistines. Many are striving to have money without forsaking moral values. However, the results have been lamentably discouraging. Often times, those seeking wealth end up sacrificing moral principles and sometimes even their faith on the altar of Mammon. No one becomes a financial star unless and until he engages in financial exercises. Greatness, like success is prepared for, not stumbled upon. Nobody succeeds by accident. To be a financial high flyer, you need some financial exercises. It takes the eagles game to become 10,000 feet high-flying eagle. Eaglets are born but eagles are made. If the eaglet is not trained to fly, it will die up there in the nest. Likewise, many people have "died" in their financial nest even when they have glorious and prosperous destinies. They have never exercised themselves into high-flying status of life. The demands of championship and being in financial rest does not reckon with praying and fasting but with rigorous financial exercises. Engaging in this exercise entails discovering how to develop investment mentality and financial intelligence, knowing and using the power to create wealth, knowing and walking the pathway to wealth, knowing and using the vehicles of wealth creation, activating multiple streams of income, knowing how to activate generational Pharaoh, the king of Egypt was worried about it; so, he came up with some evil plans to stop the children of Israel from increasing. One of the plans was to get rid of all Israelites' newly born baby boys. One day, an Israelite woman had a special baby, whom she hid for three months because she didn't want him killed. Did Pharaoh's plan work out? You'll need to find out yourself as you read on.

Protect the Harvest; Defend the Harvester talks about the conversion of a journalist who was very much against the rise of the modern day church, particularly the prophetic movement and the so-called prosperity gospel preachers. In his attempt to discredit the preachers, the journalist has a heavenly encounter which transforms his views and alters his spiritual course. At a later stage, while the journalist is travelling to DR Congo from Zambia, God shows him a vision and speaks to him about the need to 'Protect the Harvest, protect the granary and defend the harvester(s)'. An interesting encounter and valuable reading as he outlines how the Media in today's world is conspiring to discredit the church and soil the characters of the servants of God. He talks of how the church is under attack from the enemy within and without; he likens the gossip inside church to weevils. A fascinating read. "A powerful and exhilarating testimony of an amazing encounter with God." Pastor Rikki Doolan – Superintendent (Osborn Institute of Theology) www.osbourninstitute.com "An amazing testimony accompanied by very powerful teaching. The world needs this at this very moment." critical look at Africa's rapidly evolving religious media scene. Following political liberalization, media deregulation, and the proliferation of new media technologies, many African religious leaders and activists have appropriated such media to strengthen and expand their communities and gain public recognition. Media have also been used to marginalize and restrict the activities of other groups, which has sometimes led to tension, conflict, and even violence. Showing how media are rarely neutral vehicles of expression, the contributors to this multidisciplinary volume analyze the mutual imbrications of media and religion during times of rapid technological and social change in various places throughout Africa.

The greatness of a nation is less a function of its physical geography than it is of the quality of its human content. Any nation can rise to great heights if it has within its borders men and women who will dare to dream and see a life beyond the limitations of the times in which they live. These are people who know that however dark and bleak the night may be, there’ll be light at the break of dawn, and are willing both to persevere through the long, dark night and to help others do so. These men and women are those the world knows as patriots. In Dreams of a Patriot, Oluneye Oluwole confronts the monstrous subject of leadership crisis in Nigeria, not from the boring and tedious perspective of a political analyst, but from the refreshing, everyday angle of a common citizen who knows that a nation so great and so immensely endowed as Nigeria deserves more from her people. She lights a candle in the wind of our turbulent national experience and beckons on all who share in this dream of greatness to help shield its flickering flame from the extinguishing forces that have held her nation down all these years. In a subtle, unobtrusive way, it is an expression of the dreams and hopes of that pained and distressed patriot in every one of us.

The volume is significant in bringing together voices of African women theologians and their allies on the urgent topic of ecology. First, it decisively intervenes into scholarly discourses on ecofeminism by highlighting the reflections of African women scholars and African women as subjects. This function of the volume is very important both at local and global levels. Second, it contributes to contextualizing of scriptural interpretation around the issue of ecology. Biblical reflection occurs throughout the volume and is put into dialogue with African traditions, with ecofeminism, with Africa-based mission projects, and with the current crisis of sustainability and African women's roles in protecting the earth. Third, the volume includes
